

Achieving excellence through cultivating character, sharing talents and pursuing innovation

Our vision at Galmpton of everyone 'Achieving and Flourishing together' has at its heart Jesus' promise of 'Life in all its fulness.' We believe that a 'full life' is one where each individual strives to do the best for themselves and others. Our view is that every individual has the potential to succeed and flourish, academically, socially, spiritually, culturally and morally. When academic excellence is not combined with character skills and life long learning values it is hard to thrive and flourish. When Jesus spoke of living life to the full, He spoke about experiencing the fulness of God's grace and Love. It is this message that we deliver through our curriculum and specifically through our character gateways and values.
